

Exercises

➤ Let's think and answer:

1. Why did the water buck go to the river?

Answer-The water buck went to the river because he heard someone's cry for help.

2. Who was in trouble?

Answer- A crocodile was in trouble.

3. What did the crocodile promise? Did he keep the promise?

Answer- The crocodile promised that he would never attack the water buck, not even if he was hungry. Yes, he kept his promise.

4. How did the promise bring peace to them?

Answer- After the crocodile made the promise of peace to the water buck, the water buck could use the river without feeling threatened by the crocodile. Hence, the water buck and the Crocodile lived together in peace.

➤ Let's talk about these:

1. Two promises that you have kept

Answer- Some promises that I have kept are as follows:

- * cleaning my room regularly,
- * avoiding pizzas on week days,
- * avoiding a toffee or chocolate every day,
- * not crave for a new toy etc.

2. Two promises that you have not kept

Answer- Some of the promises that I have not kept are as follows:

- * not bringing my dirty shoes inside my house
- * living my plate and glass on the dining table after eating my food
- * crying when I was denied a toy etc.

3. Who did you make promises to?

Answer- Some people whom I make promises to, are: my mother, elder sister, elder brother etc.

4. How did this person feel when you kept your promise?

Answer- They felt very happy and proud of me when I kept my promises.

5. How did he or she feel when you broke it?

Answer- They felt very sad and angry when I did not fulfill my promise.

6. Why is making a promise the gift of peace?

Answer- If we keep our promises and are honest, we can live in peace with everyone.

